

Django and Nero live happily with Peter and Tracy in Mt Maunganui.

Tracy writes:"Both the boys have a great nature and purr when they see us, before we even stroke them. They love to be close to us.

They love raw meat and growl when they eat it.

I took them for a ride to the pet store today. They don't mind being in the car, which is good as they are coming with us to Hamilton for three days soon.

They are little celebrities and everyone who meets them instantly falls in love with them."